THE FACE OF CONCORDIA IS . . .

more than the buildings. It's the girl returning to Academy or the biology major finding his way to the labs again and again. It's the enthusiasm, the new science center, the new dorm complex, and the ground breaking create among the Cobbers. Behind the doors of every hall is a familiar face that reflects the essence of Concordia.

ENTERTAINING THEMSELVES . . .

every minute of the day. Some like to sleep and others like to eat. Pledges tell their big brothers how much they enjoy water puddles. Whether it's an ice cream contest in Brown Hall or a chocolate cone in the Normandy, whenever a group of Cobbers are together, there's fun.

ENTERTAINING OTHERS . . .

with varied talents. The awe-inspiring Christmas concert, the moving drama productions, and the exciting football games are an integral part of the community as well as the Cobber atmosphere. Unique talents at Normandy Nites. Bleak House. Dorm parties. These are all a phase of every Cobber's college career.

FINDING LIFE-LONG FRIENDS . . .

through every association. Whether it's the girl down the hall or the boy in the trumpet section, the society gang or the faculty associate, a friend is won. On a truck trip to a football game, the cow becomes a mere acquaintance but others become life-long companions.

RELIGIOUS CAMPUS

STEWARDS

Cobbers gave of themselves on campus and in the community. Coffee at Fargo Union Mission and an afternoon with the aged at Eventide Lutheran Home. Another community song, gospel songs on the road and Christmas carols with mentally retarded boys from Svea Home. Teenagers heard about the "Task of the Teenagers" by John Kildahl during the Luther League day directed by Kathy Rossetti and Dave Hetland.

WORSHIP

10 a.m. Chapel with Pastor Moe front and center, a "Happening" in Brown Hall courtyard, a jazz band at Vespers, a sing out at dorm devotions, a bull session with God at Prayer Fellowship. A private pause for communion during the rat race of exam week, a Eucharist in the modern idiom for Winter Carnival, electric psalms with John Ylvisaker, Arndt Halvorson and the "Style of Life", a modern parable by the Covenant Players.

SOCIAL CAMPUS

FROSH FROLICS

... showed "A Variety of Things" as the freshmen presented their talent during Sadie Hawkins weekend. Under the direction of M.C. Jack Casey and Sue Corkill, the show included a comic monologue by Connie Manske, Dan Estrem with a guitar medley, and Randy Nelson directing the freshman band, aptly called "The Zoo."

GUEST LECTURERS

Rolland Redlin

Leon Keyserling

Dr. A. Reuben Gornitzka

Dr. Vincent Harding

Dr. Will Herberg

Dr. William Wilson

General Harold K. Johnson

Rolland Redlin during political emphasis week. Leon Keyserling on "Economics of the Great Society." Dr. A. Reuben Gornitzka during religious emphasis week. Dr. Vincent Harding and Dr. William Wilson at the close of the series of race relations speakers. Will Herberg on theology and morality. General Harold Johnson discussing Vietnam policy. They came ... they spoke ... and we listened.

HOMECOMING

The surprising chapel announcement. The prize-winning float. Amusing aspects during the parade. Super-human efforts in the tug of war. Originality in the sophomores' caf decorations. A helping hand from Bob Laney. All these were under the watchful eyes of chairmen Karen Borstad and Tom Peterman, and "Corny"—the symbol of Homecoming 1967.

WINTER CARNIVAL

"And the queen is ... Karen Erickson." Along with her attendants, Donna Salberg, Rachel Nelson, Julie Nannen, and Avis Smith, Queen Karen and the audience experienced the excitement of M.C. Ted Dewald's announcement. The wonderful world of Fantasy in Frost sponsored by Chi Zeta-Chi Delt societies also contained the thrill of seeing the talented Righteous Brothers, a beautiful queen, Linda Olson named Miss Congeniality, and Donna Salberg as Miss Talent.

While coordinating the activities of Winter Carnival, Sherry Strand and Dennis Johnson viewed the "hairy" beard judging, strenuous society winter olympics, lovely queen candidates, and lively entertainment provided by The Kids Next Door and Glen Campbell.

FINIAN'S RAINBOW

... was this year's all-college musical, a tale of an Irishman and his daughter who came to America to "plant and grow gold." Followed by a most amazing leprechaun, they encountered troubles, romance, and adventure.

However, preceding opening night were months of almost never-ending rehearsal and set construction. Under the direction of Dan Thimgan, members of the cast strove for perfection. So, too, did Dave Hetland's crew who worked every spare minute on sets. The whole process of creating an enjoyable musical was carefully nurtured into completion by Dave Skurdal and the other members of the Student Productions Commission. members of the commission pictured are (row 1) Mark Johnson, Commissioner Dave Skurdal, Jim Revier, Mary Dyrstad, (row 2) Erv Zinter, Dave Hetland, John Schultz, and Loren Solberg. Other activities of the commission included production of the Homecoming show, Frosh Frolics, Winter Carnival, and the Jack Benny concert.

COMMENCEMENT

His majesty, Olav V, King of Norway, delivered this spring's commencement address. Arriving after the traditional march of the faculty and seniors, the King spoke of the friendship and common heritage of his country and America. After the King's departure, President Joseph L. Knutson presented the three hundred twenty-one graduates their diplomas.

Entertainment is the Phi's trademark. From the singing Phi Squad to the antics of Gary Nokleberg and Steve Buchholz; from the bashful flappers to sheepish Denny. An original float, an Alpine all-school supper, persistent Mardi Gras bunnies and a time to get away from it all at the fall outing.

STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Student Government has successfully begun the integration between faculty, students, and administrators with the establishment of the Parallel Committees, productive student faculty retreats, and a promising Student Affairs Committee. Internal improvements have strengthened the effectiveness of Student Government. Students are finally becoming an essential and important part of the college, contributing to the continually changing atmosphere of the college.

ROW 3: Bud Wagner, Adnan Sharabi, Brad Selland, Greg Dale, and Louis Jones. They directed their attention to foreign students and foreign travel, an International Night, and the Virginia Union exchange program. A new feature was studying abroad.

With the direction of Marv Abrahamson, the Inter-Society Commission worked throughout the year to coordinate the societies and serve as a link between the societies and Student Government. They orientated the freshman to societies, initiated society lists after pledging, started interest sheets, and planned initiation day. Members are Don Gaetz, Penny Albers, Don Gunderson, Linda Wilson, John Sathre, Oliva Hegge, Gary Johnson, Joyce Sethre, John Jorde, Becky Albright, Jim Anderson, Suzanne Smith, Steve Sem, and Marv Abrahamson.

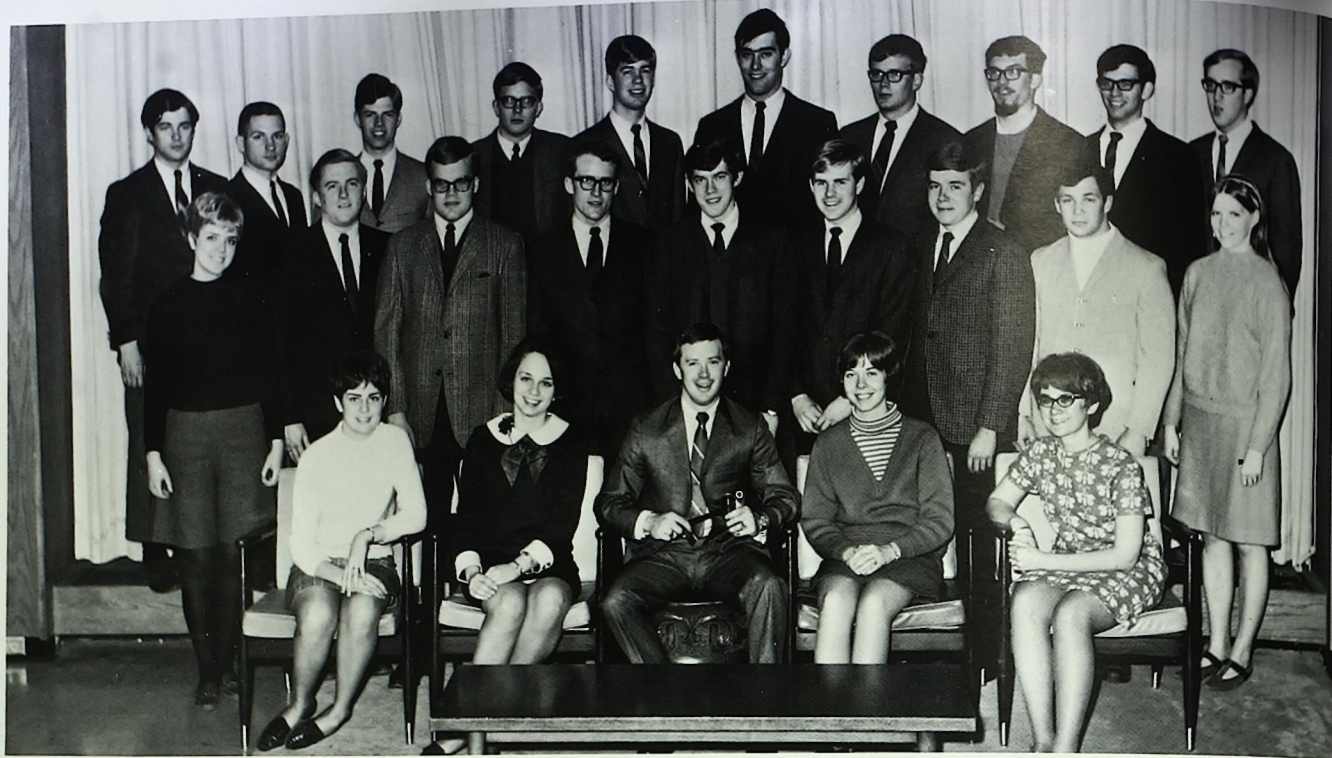

Fun Y-Nights. Computer Party Surprises. Sadie Hawkins weekend. Cheerleaders. Dennis Westgard and his Activities Commission sponsored these and more to help improve the social life on campus. Activity-plus described this year's commission. They also published the monthly calendar and hosted the Campus Cinema and the Washington Seminar. Pictured clockwise around Dennis Westgard are Jo Gilbertson (6:00), Joyce Urdahl, Cindy Sillers, Mary Anderson, Al Jesness, John Jorde, Marv Abrahamson, Linda Pottratz, and Steve Handley. Not pictured are Kristi Svidal and Reeves Cary.

Dave Rice and his Development Commission turned its efforts to new projects and ideas. These efforts included the Town Meeting, the contingency C-400 membership, the Student-Faculty retreat and coffee hours, public relations, Parents Weekend, and the new Concordia Collegians. Pictured are Kris Norden, Arlene Olson, Dave Rice, Nola Loge, Jo Hovland, Jan Aarthun, and Mark Olson. Not pictured are Jon Evert and Jim Anderson.

Student parallel committees to work with faculty committees. Investigations of the student judicial system and dormitory regulations. Inspection of the constitutions of all the commissions and boards. Ideas and plans for the proposed student union. A scholarship committee for non-white students. These and more actions characterized the progressive Senate, this year under the leadership of Vice President Ted Dewald. The Judicial Board is composed of five upperclassmen, who review cases about college policies. Through this board, students have the opportunity to be judged by their own peers. Pictured above are Nancy Johnson, Karen Koslowski, Chairman John Martinson, and Tom Fink. Not pictured is Tim Braaten.

SKI CLUB

Activity, excitement, and fun describe this year's Ski Club. In November the club sponsored a special show with the exhibition of ski clothes, equipment, movies, and musical entertainment. But the real excitement came when the whole club traveled to Quadna Mountain for a weekend trip in January. However, some members even went farther. At midsemester break several of the most avid skiers drove to Colorado for exhaustive skiing, suntans, and—what's this—even swimming?!
